REMOVES POLES FROM THE ROADS

FARMER IN ANOTHER COUNTY
HOPES PROGRESS WILL PREVAIL.

Illustrating the feeling of people in other counties toward the toll-gate, is an extract from a letter from one of the largest farmers of an adjoining county to Anderson Bros. & Foster. This farmer says that he is coming to Columbia with his family as "soon as they get those polls from across the roads." This is pretty strong evidence that the folks whom one would attract to the county regard the toll-gate, or pole across the road as an impediment.

POOR PICKING.

"What's the matter?" asked the first flea. "You look starved."
"They are making these toy dogs so natural," explained the other flea, "that I arranged to summer on one of them by mistake."

CHAIRMAN MOORE APPEALS TO BOARD TO BE PROGRESSIVE

VETERAN DELIVERS VALEDICTORY AND GIVES SOME WHOLE SOME ADVICE.

STANDS BY THE RECORD MADE

Urges The Board Of Education To Continue its Wise Policy of School Consolidation—Rather be Right and Be Defeated.

At the meeting of the county board of education on Monday, Robert N. Moore, chairman, and nestor of the board, having served longer upon it than any of his colleagues, delivered his valedictory, having been defeated for re-election. Mr. Moore thanked the other members of the board for the splendid co-operation which they had given. He spoke of the six years that he had served upon the board, of the advancement and the progress that had been made during that time by the schools of Maury county. He said that during his entire service upon the board he had never been moved by any consideration save a desire to advance the cause of popular education in Maury county.

Mr. Moore declared that he had given to the county and to the cause of education the very best service that was in him; that he had been guided alone by an earnest desire that the school interests should advance; that in all things he had been progressive. He said that he had long ago arrived at the conclusion that the day of the one room, one teacher school in every little neighborhood should give way to the larger and better equipped and better taught school; that he had acted always with an eye single to attaining this end in Maury county. He had favored a policy that would give as nearly as possible, to every boy and girl in the county equal educational facilities.

Mr. Moore said that he had been defeated, but that in defeat he had the consolation of knowing that all the times he had acted unselfishly for the interests of the schools and in advocacy of a policy that would redound to the good of the schools. "I had rather be defeated and know that I was right and that I had acted always for the best interests of the schools than to have been elected at the sacrifice of a single principle for which I have stood these six years."

"Now in conclusion," said Mr. Moore, "let me urge you to pursue the splendid policy which you have followed during the six years I have served on this board. Do not permit any kind of reactionary or retrograde movement. I would counsel with you to continue especially your policy of conservative consolidation. Do not return to the little one room, one teacher school wherever you can give the boys and girls of the county the opportunity for something better. I have confidence that this board will do this; that we have gone too far in Maury county on the highway of educational progress to permit the growth of a reactionary policy. I thank you again and wish for the schools all possible prosperity and for you, gentlemen personal success."

HIGHEST SUMMER PRICES FOR HOGS

HAVE ATTAINED THE BEST VALUES EVER KNOWN FOR TIME OF YEAR.

Houston Thomas, of Nashville, is here to spend several days with relatives and friends. Mr. Thomas is manager of the stock yards of Nashville and said today that he had never known such a fine summer market for hogs as there had been this year.

"Hogs have sold higher during the summer," said Mr. Thomas, "than ever before in my experience. I have known a higher market, but not at this time of the year. Ten cent hogs have been mighty rare in my experience. I remember very well the highest price at which I ever sold them. It was on March 6, 1910, that I sold them for $11.35 per hundred pounds, which is the record, for the market reached the summit on that day and a few days later went down below the eleven cent mark. I recall that during this time I bought two cars from a feeder down at White Bluff that brought him over $4,700. And he did not sell at the summit of the market either. However, feeder cannot complain this year and they have been taking advantage of the high prices for even in the hottest weather we have had runs of 500 to a thousand a day."

Total vote	1,405
Majority	351

The above figures show the complete official vote of Maury county as finally certified by the commissioners of election late Monday afternoon when the long looked for box from Spring Hill had reached the city. This box was necessary to decide who had been elected for member of the county board of education in the Second division and when it was received that matter was quickly settled and the commissioners issued the certificate to Edward D. Hunter.

To J. Walter Griffin, one of the most efficient and energetic sheriffs the county has ever known, goes the honor of leading the ticket. Less than 600 voters who expressed a choice for tax assessor in a hotly contested election failed to mark their ballots for the sheriff. John W. Adkison, for trustee, was only about 100 votes behind.

Constitutional convention carried Maury county by 351 votes. No election returns on this question were received from Sandy Hook. The convention received 878 votes against 527. Only half of those who voted for tax assessor expressed any opinion as to the merits of changing the fundamental law of the state. The proposition received some hard knocks north of the river, but generally got splendid majority in the southern section of the county.

The labors of the election board insofar as the recent election is concerned, were finished shortly after 5 o'clock Monday when the returns in the constitutional convention were certified to the secretary of state.

To Our Friends and Customers And the Public in General

Owing to the heavy loss occasioned to us by the hundreds and hundreds of bad eggs that are offered on the market during the summer months, we the undersigned retail grocerymen of Columbia, hereby agree not to buy any more eggs, except CAMDLED EGGS, after

Tuesday, August 8, 1916

We notice from The Herald that the Produce dealers have taken this method to protect themselves against the heavy losses, and we are in thorough harmony and sympathy with them in this movement.

It is not a matter of the quantity of Eggs that we receive now, it is more the quality of Eggs that we desire. The public demands that we furnish them with sound, fresh Eggs. The pure food laws of the State of Tennessee and the same laws of the Federal Government, will not permit us to sell Eggs without candling them. We cannot afford to buy Eggs uncandled and then candle them and suffer the heavy loss from the bad eggs. It is a losing game. We ask our customers to gather up their eggs once or twice a day, keep them in a cool place and market them several times during the week. Signed:

ENTERPRISE FOLKS PLANNING NOTABLE SCHOOL BARBECUE

BIG RALLY WILL BE HELD ON FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8 IN SIXTH DISTRICT.

GOV. RYE TO BE INVITED

Other Prominent Speakers Will Be Heard and Occasion Made one of the Most Memorable in That Section of County.

There will be a big school rally and barbecue at Enterprise in the Sixth district on Friday, September 8 when it is planned to have one of the largest crowds and biggest affairs known in that section of the county. A number of the prominent citizens of the county and state will be invited and a notable program is being arranged. An effort will be made to have Gov. Tom C. Rye among the speakers. Thomas Y. English, member of the county court from that section, and one of the liveliest wires in the county, is taking an active interest in the event which insures its success.

No section of the county has made greater progress in recent years than Enterprise. Only a year ago the best rural school building in the county was dedicated with appropriate exercises and in the presence of a large crowd. This school was made possible by the liberality of the citizens of that section who contributed much in money, in time and in labor for its building. The school took the place of others that were abolished.

The success of the school in another conclusive argument for consolidation, the enrollment 175, during the past session, being largely more than the combined enrollment of the schools that were abolished. While at first as is always, the case where school consolidation takes place, there was some objection, the whole people are now satisfied and determined to make the coming term an even better one than that of last session.

HARLAN RETURNS LONE STAR STATE

HARVESTED 14,000 BUSHELS OF
WHEAT OFF 700 ACRES—20
BUSHELS TO ACRE.

A. B. Harlan has returned from Texas, where he has been for the past several weeks harvesting his enormous crop of wheat. Mr. Harlan had in seven hundred acres on his ranch near Wichita Falls, Texas. Mr. Harlan reports that the crop was only about a half yield, but that in spite of the damage done by the fly they harvested 14,000 bushels of number two wheat, for which he received $1.07 per bushel.

Mr. Harlan said that they had on their ranch two hundred and fifty acres of cotton that bids fair to average a bale to the acre, and that the corn crop all through Texas where he had been was looking fine. The farmers have had fine seasons and everything promises to be a bumper crop year for the farmers of the Lone Star state.

Mr. Harlan says that Texas is next to the greatest state in the world, that if it was not for having to leave Tennessee, he would move to Texas tomorrow, but that he did not have the heart nor the desire to leave the grandest country on the earth.

Mr. Harlan also reports the sale of a fine jack since his return to F. E. Burnett, of Williamson county, for $1,250. Mr. Harlan considered this animal one of the best he had in his herd.
